About me

My name is Michał Boruch and I am 21 years old aspiring junior web developer based in Tarnów and Kraków. In 2019, may I started my journey with Javascript, and since then I have been constantly increasing my skills and knowledge of web development.

All of my projects with descriptions can be found on my Github profile or on my portfolio website michalboruch.com

Projects

01 | Discord look-alike chat app

React, Redux, NodeJS, Express, Socket.io, MongoDB

Discord look-alike chat app to send messages in real time. Users can create an account and sockets are authenticated by JWT. Then users have possibility to create new server or join to the server that already exists, create and delete rooms and send messages. This project is still being developed.

02 | BuyIT

React, Redux, NodeJS, Express, MongoDB, Socket.io

React e-commerce project, where users can add, remove, reserve and order products added to the database. The main goal of this project was to create updated and more advanced version one of my previous project – Indeed e-commerce. This time I decided to create project with full backend and MongoDB database, with the addition of the Socket.io, to provide real-time user experience.
